1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 The settlement that is before the Court for final approval would not exist
3 without the efforts of Non-Settling Plaintiffs and their attorneys.¹ Non-Settling 4 Plaintiffs include all of the original plaintiffs in this action, including the named 5 Plaintiff, Jeffrey Etter. Non-Settling Plaintiffs’ attorneys were responsible for 6 initiating this action and worked tirelessly to prosecute this action on behalf of the 7 Class. Through their work, overwhelming evidence of Defendants’ malfeasance was 8 brought to light, resulting in an initial settlement proposal that – solely through the 9 extraordinary efforts of Non-Settling Plaintiffs and their attorneys – was reshaped, 10 modified and improved in every material respect for the benefit of the rank and file 11 Class member.

12 Through this motion, Non-Settling Plaintiffs and their attorneys request that the 13 Court make the following rulings:

- 14 1. Award attorney’s fees of $7.2 million, representing 20% of the 15 $36 million Settlement Fund;
- 16 2. Allocate the attorney fee award equally ($3.6 million each) between 17 Settling Plaintiffs’ Attorneys² and Non-Settling Plaintiffs’ attorneys; and
- 18 3. Award Non-Settling Plaintiffs’ attorneys reimbursement of costs and 19 expenses reasonably and necessarily incurred of $92,458.20.
20
22

23
24 ¹ Non-Settling Plaintiffs (“NSP”) are Jeff and Susan Etter, Fran and Michelle 25 Curtis, Paul Kahler, Brian McBride, Richard Kaylor and Emil Vargo. Non-Settling 26 Plaintiffs are represented by the Law Offices of Terrence A. Beard (Beard) and Hagens Berman Sobel Shapiro, LLP (HB), who are collectively referred to herein as the “Non-Settling Plaintiffs’ Attorneys” (“NSPA”).

27 ² Settling Plaintiffs are represented by Zimmerman Reed, LLP (“ZR”), which 28 includes the previously separate firm of Ridout Lyon + Ottoson, LLP (“RLO”). Both firms are referred to collectively herein as the “Settling Plaintiffs’ Attorneys” (“SPA”).

1 II. THE ATTORNEY FEE AWARD SHOULD BE CAPPED
2 AT 20% OF THE SETTLEMENT FUND

3 Settling Plaintiffs’ Attorneys negotiated a “clear sailing” agreement with 4 Defendants whereby Defendants would not object to an attorney fee award up to 25% 5 of the settlement fund.³ While 25% is considered the benchmark for attorney’s fees in 6 common fund cases, the Court nevertheless has the discretion – if not the duty – to 7 carefully scrutinize any fee request and adjust this percentage based on the actual 8 benefits received by the class.⁴

9 NSP and their attorneys, who initiated this case and performed the research and 10 investigation necessary for its filing, have never been happy with SPA’s settlement 11 and have doggedly challenged it. Through those efforts, NSPA have improved the 12 settlement in every material respect.⁵ Still, the settlement remains seriously flawed, 13 and the real-world benefits to the class questionable. The following examples are 14 illustrative:

- 15 • The settlement does not remove a single defective refrigerator from the 16 marketplace, while granting the Defendants nationwide relief from ever having 17 to fix or replace their defective refrigerators on a class wide basis;
- 18 • The settlement does not provide sufficient funds to allow the rank and file Class 19 member to replace their defective refrigerators on their own, thus operating to 20

23 ⁴ See In re Bluetooth Headset Prods. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 948 (9th Cir. 2011) 24 (very existence of clear sailing provision increases likelihood that class counsel 25 bargained away something of value to the class, creating heightened duty on the court to 26 “peer into the provision and scrutinize closely the relationship between attorney’s fees 27 and benefit to the class” (citing Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938, 954 (9th Cir.
28 2003); Van Horn v. Nationwide Prop. & Cas. Ins. Co., 436 F. App’x 496, 500 (6th Cir. 2011) (reduction in fee award appropriate where class did not receive “an especially good benefit” and settlement mechanism agreed to yielded low claims rate)).

Motion for Attorney’s Fees and Expenses (“Beard Decl.”) at ¶ 47.

1 shove virtually the entire cost and risk of Defendants’ defective product onto 2 consumers;⁶

- 3 • The settlement does nothing to alleviate the ongoing public safety risk caused 4 by Defendants’ defective products continuing to fail and ignite fires;⁷
- 5 • The settlement provisions providing for a warning – while better than originally 6 proposed – are still inadequate in content in that they do not convey the nature 7 of the defect, the manner in which it manifests itself, and all of the safety risks 8 involved;
- 9 • The proposed warning is fundamentally deceptive in that it continues to convey 10 the notion that if a consumer has the latest recall device installed, it will be safe 11 to use, when it is undisputed – even by Defendants – that the HTS device will 12 not stop N6/N8/1200 Series refrigerators from corroding, cracking, and leaking 13 flammable and toxic gases;⁸ and
- 14 • The settlement provisions regarding an extended warranty for N6/N8 owners is 15 unsupported by any showing that the warranty conveys an actual benefit to 16 Class members.⁹

18 ⁶ While the SPA have not submitted a formal damage calculation, the parties are in 19 general agreement that the cost in material and labor to replace a 1200 Series cooling 20 unit is $1,700.00, and the cost to replace a N6/N8 cooling unit is $1,129.00. While the 21 claims rate is currently unknown, under the projections by the SPA (Dkt. No. 413-1) – 22 adjusted based on a net class recovery of $25 million after fees and expenses – the 23 only scenario in which 1200 Series owners would recover sufficient funds to replace 24 their defective cooling units would be if the claims rate did not exceed 6%. At that 25 rate, N6/N8 owners could expect to receive $384.25 – barely a third of the cost of a 26 replacement CU. These results could not be obtained unless 94% of eligible class 27 members did not file a claim.

28 ⁷ See, e.g., Dkt. No. 452, at 3:3-7:7.

⁸ See, e.g., Dkt. No. 117, at 17:9-18:6; 24:11-26:27.

⁹ See Bluetooth, 654 F.3d at 944 (citing FRCP 23(h), 2003 Advisory Cmte. Notes: non-monetary provisions for class members require careful scrutiny to ensure that the provisions have actual value to the class; In re TD Ameritrade Accountholder Litig., 266 F.R.D. 418, 423 (N.D. Cal. 2009) (“The standard [under Rule 23(e)] is not how much money a company spends on purported benefits, but the value of those benefits to the class.”). Here, the SPA have yet to produce any evidence that the warranty provisions of the Settlement Agreement convey actual benefits to class members. As the Court pointed out in its June 15, 2015 Order (Dkt. No. 402), “An extended

1 Simply put, this settlement will mean that thousands more unsuspecting Norcold 2 gas absorption refrigerator owners will experience a failed and leaky cooling system, 3 if not a dangerous hydrogen gas fire that will likely destroy their RV or camper and 4 could cause serious injury or death. This is a statistical certainty with Norcold's 5 present failure rate exceeding four units per week.¹⁰ And the problem will only get 6 worse. The nature of the defect is that over time the caustic mixture of hydrogen and 7 ammonia eats away at the metal wall of the boiler tube. The older the cooling units 8 get, the more likely they are to fail. As NSP explained in their opposition to the 9 settlement, there is and was a better alternative that Defendants could have afforded 10 that would have taken these dangerous products out of circulation. But rather than 11 join NSP in driving that resolution, SPA aligned with Defendants to do everything 12 they could to stop it.

13 NSP and their attorneys recognize, however, that the Court has only one 14 proposed settlement before it, and its grant of preliminary approval carries with it the 15 distinct possibility that the settlement, even with all its flaws, will be deemed to meet 16 the fair, reasonable and adequate standard of Rule 23(e). However, as SPA concedes, 17 the settlement is not an exceptional – or even good – result for the class.¹¹ It is 18 instead, in their view, the “best they could do.” If the settlement ultimately is deemed 19 to meet the standards for final approval, it does so on the extreme low end of the fair, 20 reasonable and adequate scale. Such a result for the class does not justify a 25% 21 attorney fee award. And it certainly does not justify such an award in the context of 22 SPA having spent hundreds of hours fighting NSPA's winning efforts to make the 23 settlement better.

24 _____
25 warranty that allows consumers to replace a product after it corrodes, cracks, and 26 leaks, and potentially catches on fire, does not help remedy the serious safety risks 27 these consumers currently face.”

28 ¹⁰ See, e.g., Beard Decl. in Opposition to Renewed Motion for Preliminary Approval (Dkt. No. 452) at pp. 3-4.

¹¹ See, e.g., Beard Reply Decl. in Support of Motion to Conduct Discovery (Dkt.
No. 269) at pp. 5-14 (citing Oct. 10, 2014 Transcript of Proceedings at 30:3-14).

1 NSP and their attorneys respectfully request that the Court reject the 25% clear 2 sailing agreement between the SPA and the Defendants, cap the attorney fee award at 3 20% of the settlement fund, and return the $1.8 million difference to the settlement 4 fund for distribution to the class.

5 III. ANY ATTORNEY FEE AWARD SHOULD BE APPORTIONED
6 EQUALLY BETWEEN SPA AND NSPA

7 The determination of an appropriate attorney fee award in this case involves not 8 just the percentage of the settlement fund to be set aside for that purpose, but the 9 allocation of any fee award between attorneys in this case. While NSPA Terry Beard 10 initiated and investigated this action while working with SPA, their irreconcilable 11 differences on agreeing to the instant claims-made, low-dollar cash settlement required 12 NSP and NSPA to take a stand and break away from ZR and RLO, who then merged 13 and became SPA.

14 As a result, there are two groups of attorneys – SPA and NSPA – who have 15 contributed time, effort and money to the creation of the settlement fund. Any 16 attorney fee award entered in this case should be split between these two groups 17 equally, based on their relative contributions to the benefits generated for the Class.
18 An equal allocation of the attorney fee award is not only the most reasonable method 19 for allocating fees given the particular circumstances of this case, but is more than 20 justified for the following reasons:

21 A. NSPA Initiated the Litigation

22 Defendants are institutional litigants who have been involved in claims and 23 lawsuits over their defective gas absorption refrigerators for almost two decades. Up 24 to 2010, they had been universally successful in litigating claims on an individual 25 basis. In April 2010, a Norcold 1200 Series refrigerator owned by Joseph Reis failed 26 and ignited a fire that destroyed Mr. Reis' RV, damaged his house, and severely 27 burned Mr. Reis. Mr. Reis retained Terrance Beard, one of NSPA, to represent him in 28 an individual product liability state court action against Norcold and Thetford.

1 Through discovery obtained in that action – much of which had never been 2 produced in a Norcold refrigerator fire case before – Beard unearthed evidence of the 3 Defendants’ longstanding pattern and practice of designing, manufacturing and selling 4 refrigerators throughout the United States containing common defects that put lives
5 and property at risk. Beard recognized the potential for holding the Defendants 6 accountable on a class-wide basis, and in November/December, 2011 took the 7 initiative to contact other firms to assist in the filing of a class action lawsuit, 8 including RLO, who introduced Beard to ZR.¹²

9 In the year prior to the filing of the original complaint in this action, Beard led 10 efforts, with the assistance of ZR and RLO, to investigate the viability of a class action 11 against the Defendants. Beard was solely responsible for obtaining substantial 12 amounts of documentary evidence regarding the Defendants and their defective 13 products through individual state court litigation he was involved in, including the 14 Reis Action. Beard alone took depositions of the Defendants’ corporate witnesses, 15 conducted tests of exemplar Norcold refrigerators, and interacted with experts – 16 including the Defendants’ retained experts. Through these efforts, Beard obtained 17 detailed knowledge of the common defects inherent in Defendants’ gas absorption 18 refrigerators, Defendants’ concealment of the defects and the risks those defects posed 19 to consumers, and Defendants’ fraudulent recall/retrofit campaigns.¹³

20 Beard interviewed and screened potential plaintiffs/class representatives. Beard 21 was responsible for signing up all three of the original plaintiffs in this litigation – Jeff 22 and Susan Etter, Fran and Michelle Curtis, and Paul Kahler.¹⁴ Because of protective 23 orders entered in other litigation, Beard was limited to the amount of documentary 24 evidence he could share with SPA prior to the filing of the original complaint and thus 25 had to perform the vast majority of the pre-filing investigation himself. Beard’s

26 ¹² Beard Decl., ¶ 7.

27 ¹³ Beard Decl., ¶¶ 8-10.

28 ¹⁴ Beard Decl., ¶ 12.

1 extensive knowledge and background with Defendants and their defective refrigerators
2 was therefore essential to the drafting of the original Class Action Complaint (“CAC”)
3 and the First Amended Complaint (“FAC”). In particular, the detailed factual
4 allegations in the CAC and FAC were drafted by Beard, and based solely on Beard’s
5 knowledge, background and expertise with Defendants and their products.¹⁵

6 The present action is the first – and only – effort to hold the Defendants’ 7 accountable on a class-wide basis. The action would have never been filed but for 8 Beard’s initiative, knowledge and expertise.

9 B. Until Their Dispute Concerning the Proposed Settlement, Beard Was an 10 Equal Participant in Every Phase of the Prosecution of This Action

11 Beard and SPA worked collaboratively pursuant to a de facto division of labor 12 that recognized the contributions of each to the efficient prosecution of the case on 13 behalf of the Class, i.e., Beard’s litigation experience and detailed knowledge and 14 expertise regarding the Defendants and their defective products, and SPA’s experience 15 with class action procedure.¹⁶ Beard spent substantial time on every aspect of the 16 case, including drafting and revising pleadings, declarations, motions, correspondence, 17 and in reviewing and responding to email traffic from co-counsel, opposing counsel, 18 experts, clients and Class members. Beard continued to interview and screen potential 19 new plaintiffs, and was responsible for bringing class plaintiffs Emil Vargo, Brian 20 McBride, Dennis Osha, Raymond Rolle, and Richard Kahlor into the action.

21 Beard was particularly responsible for litigation, discovery, document 22 production and review, and developing the evidentiary basis underlying the class 23 claims. For example, Beard was the person who identified and worked with Plaintiffs’ 24 experts, Alan Kam, Pete Layson and Orion Keifer of AEGI. Beard took the 25 depositions of all of the defense witnesses, including Bob Cutright, Mary Pouliot, 26 Michael Harris, and Jerry Alexander. Beard prepared virtually all of the Plaintiffs for 27 ¹⁵ Beard Decl., ¶ 10.

28 ¹⁶ Beard Decl., ¶¶ 13, 15.

1 their depositions, and defended several of them, including the initial depositions of the 2 named plaintiffs, Jeff and Susan Etter, Fran Curtis, and Brian McBride. Beard
3 prepared the Plaintiffs’ engineering experts for deposition, and defended their expert 4 depositions in Florida. Beard also spent substantial time developing the detailed 5 factual and evidentiary support for the motion for class certification – including the 6 expert declarations of Orion Keifer and Peter Layson.¹⁷

7 C. When SPA Agreed to an Inadequate Settlement, NSPA Refused to Go 8 Along and Fought to Make It Better

9 Beard and SPA fundamentally disagreed on agreeing to a class resolution that 10 left consumers at risk of fire, property damage, burn injuries and even death. This 11 disagreement proved insurmountable when SPA agreed to seek approval of a claims-12 made settlement that would return to Class members a mere fraction of the cost to 13 replace a defective gas absorption refrigerator. At the risk of NSP recovering nothing, 14 and Beard never recovering a penny of his extensive investment of time and money in 15 the litigation, NSP drew a line in the sand and walked away. And Beard walked with 16 them.

17 Beard sought out the assistance of Hagens Berman (“HB”), to both bring its 18 extensive class action and consumer defect litigation experience to bear, and to combat 19 SPA’s efforts to push through the settlement that Beard and HB were steadfast was 20 simply not good enough. Together, Beard and HB fought to better the settlement.
21 Twice, in response to NSPA’s opposition to SPA’s motions for preliminary approval 22 of the settlement, the Court demanded more for the Class. And during this period, 23 SPA were not working to benefit the Class, instead they were working hand in hand 24 with Defendants to keep their settlement, and de facto control of the case, intact.

25 D. The Class Substantially Benefitted from the Efforts of NSPA

26 In addition to initiating the case in the first instance, NSPA provided a number 27 of benefits to the Class that would not have been available without them.

28 ¹⁷ See Beard Decl., ¶¶ 16-21.

1 First, NSPA’s extensive knowledge and experience with Defendants and their 2 defective product created efficiencies that saved the Class both time and money.
3 Because of NSPA’s involvement in the case, Plaintiffs started the action with the 4 benefit of a substantial amount of documentary evidence and deposition testimony to 5 support their claims, including the depositions of Defendants’ corporate 6 representatives and experts. Plaintiffs did not therefore have to “reinvent the wheel” 7 when it came to discovery. Nor did Plaintiffs have to risk an adverse ruling in a 8 discovery battle that would deprive them of relevant evidence. This efficiency saved 9 hundreds of hours of attorney time and tens of thousands of dollars of costs.¹⁸

10 Second, the fact that the Class had the benefit of documents, deposition 11 testimony and expert reports from other litigation is undoubtedly the reason why 12 Defendants – notwithstanding the size of this case and potential exposure – never filed 13 a dispositive motion.

14 Third, the detailed factual support for the Class claims is the reason why 15 Defendants came to the bargaining table in the first place, and the reason they put the 16 original $33 million on the table. Bare class allegations – without evidentiary 17 support – would have never generated the initial offer.

18 Fourth, NSPA’s challenges to the settlement negotiated between SPA and 19 Defendants, and their dogged pursuit of meaningful confirmatory discovery on 20 Defendants’ inability to pay claims, resulted in substantive changes to the original 21 agreement that improved the settlement in every material respect, providing 22 substantial benefits to the Class. For example:

- 23 • NSPA efforts to pursue confirmatory discovery led to Defendants adding 24 an additional $3 million to the Settlement Fund, increasing it to 25 $36 million;

26
27
28 ¹⁸ See Beard Decl., ¶ 34.

- 1 • NSPA challenges to the allocation plan in the original settlement led to 2 material modifications that improved the fairness of the allocation 3 between Class members, and ensured that claimants to the fund be 4 compensated commensurate with their out of pocket losses;
- 5 • NSPA challenges to the warning provisions of the settlement agreement
6 led to an expansion of the distribution of the warning to all Class 7 members who receive notice of the settlement, and improved the content 8 of the warning by providing additional information to owners regarding 9 signs of cooling unit failure; and
- 10 • NSPA challenges to the linkage between individual settlements of some 11 SPA and agreement of the Class settlement led to the removal of fatal 12 conflicts of interest that prevented preliminary approval.¹⁹

13 IV. NSPA HAVE REQUESTED REASONABLE ATTORNEY’S FEES

14 Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provides that “the court may 15 award reasonable attorney’s fees and nontaxable costs that are authorized by law or by 16 the parties’ agreement.”²⁰ “[A]wards of attorneys’ fees serve the dual purpose of 17 encouraging persons to seek redress for damages caused to an entire class of persons 18 and discouraging future misconduct.”²¹ In “common fund” cases, such as this, the 19 district court has the discretion to award attorneys’ fees as either a percentage of the 20 common fund, or by using the lodestar method.²² The district court’s decision in

1 awarding attorneys' fees and expenses to the plaintiffs is reviewed for abuse of 2 discretion.²³

3 In the Ninth Circuit, the "benchmark" award in common fund cases is 25% of 4 the recovery obtained, with 20-30% being "the usual range."²⁴ The Court may also 5 use the lodestar method to determine reasonable attorneys' fees, multiplying the 6 number of hours reasonably expended by a reasonable hourly rate.²⁵ In common fund 7 cases, the lodestar method may also be used as a cross-check of the percentage-of-8 fund method.²⁶

9 Here, NSPA seek $3,600,000.00 in attorneys' fees, representing 10% of the 10 $36,000,000.00 Settlement Fund. As set forth above, the fees requested are half of an 11 overall award of 20% of the Settlement Fund – on the low end of the Ninth Circuit's 12 benchmark award in common fund cases. Defendants – having already agreed to 13 attorney's fees up to 25% – have no basis to oppose this request, and its 14 reasonableness is confirmed when cross-checked against the lodestar. Accordingly, 15 under either the percentage-of-fund or lodestar approach, NSPA's requested fee award 16 is reasonable.

17 A. NSPA's Fee Request is Reasonable Under a "Common Fund" Percentage- 18 of-Recovery Analysis

19 NSPA seek an award of attorneys' fees representing 10% of the Settlement 20 Fund – a percentage that, in light of the equal apportionment with the SPA, is on the 21 low end of fees awarded by courts in this Circuit. In Vizcaino, the Ninth Circuit 22 outlined a number of factors that courts may consider in setting an appropriate fee, 23 including whether counsel achieved exceptional results, and the degree of risk

1 assumed by counsel.²⁷ The Ninth Circuit has clarified that these are not the only 2 factors that district courts may consider in awarding fees and expenses; rather, “in 3 selecting a reasonable percentage fee award in a common fund case the district court 4 must consider all relevant circumstances.”²⁸ Here, the NSPA request that the Court 5 award fees of 20% of the Settlement Fund, and apportion the fees equally between 6 SPA and NSPA. This request is fully supported by the relevant circumstances of this 7 case.

8 First, NSPA are responsible for initiating this action. This is significant because 9 it represents the first and only time Defendants have been compelled to address their 10 15-year history of manufacturing defective refrigerators on a class-wide basis. Put 11 simply, this case would have never been filed – and there would be no benefits to 12 distribute to the Class – without NSPA’s initiative and hard work in developing the 13 case.

14 Second, the case was factually and technically complex, involving three 15 interrelated corporate defendants, 1.5 million defective gas absorption refrigerators, 16 seven product safety recalls, and three different retrofit devices. The case required a 17 detailed understanding of the technology behind the product, the science underlying 18 the defects common to all Class member’s refrigerators, and the relationship between 19 the Defendants. It required a mastery over the tens of thousands of pages of 20 documentary evidence to establish the factual basis for the Class claims, and to 21 provide an impetus for Defendants to come to the bargaining table. NSPA’s work 22 contributed specific and detailed knowledge, experience and expertise on these myriad 23 factual and technical issues that directly benefitted the Class, and which would not 24 have been available otherwise.

25

27 ²⁷ Vizcaino, 290 F.3d at 1048.

28 ²⁸ Steiner v. Am. Broadcasting Co., Inc., 248 F. App’x 780, 782 (9th Cir. 2007) (emphasis in original).

1 Third, NSPA assumed exceptional risk by challenging the original settlement 2 negotiated by SPA with Defendants. HB joined Beard's efforts with no clear path to 3 recovery and significant time and expense requirements on the horizon. Together, 4 NSPA pursued meaningful confirmatory discovery on the central premise underlying 5 the settlement, i.e., the Defendants' claimed inability to pay and the supposed 6 impossible task of replacing the defective gas absorption refrigerators.

7 There was no guarantee that the challenge would ultimately result in any benefit 8 to the Class. If unsuccessful, there was every indication that the time and money put 9 into the effort would be substantially discounted, if not completely disallowed, in any 10 subsequent fee/cost petition. Indeed, it was likely that an unsuccessful challenge 11 would result in NSPA and NSP being blamed for delaying the settlement and 12 distribution to Class members unnecessarily, with similar negative consequences to 13 NSPA's ability to be compensated for the time and money invested in the case up to 14 the challenge.

15 The challenge was vigorously opposed by the united efforts of SPA and 16 Defendants, who objected at every turn, delayed and frustrated court-ordered 17 discovery, and forced NSPA to engage in protracted litigation to obtain documents and 18 deposition testimony that the Court deemed necessary for its evaluation of whether the 19 original settlement met the standard of fair, reasonable and adequate.²⁹

20 Notwithstanding the substantial time, costs and risks involved, NSPA would not 21 back down, and NSPA's efforts ultimately improved the settlement for the benefit of 22 all Class members. As a direct result of NSPA's efforts, the Settlement Fund was 23 increased by $3 million; the allocation provisions were modified to improve fairness 24 between Class members; the provisions regarding a warning were improved to include 25 more information and to be distributed to all Class members; and the improper 26 conflicts of interest that threatened the adequacy of SPA and certain Settling 27 ²⁹ See, e.g., Court's Orders re: NSPA's Motion to Conduct Discovery (Dkt. No.

28 275) and NSPA's Request to Cross-Examine Jeffrey Brandlin (Dkt. No. 299).

1 Plaintiffs – and which stood in the way of preliminary approval – were removed.
2 None of these changes would have been made but for NSP’s and NSPA’s willingness 3 to assume an exceptional amount of time, cost and risk for the benefit of the Class.

4 Fourth, throughout the litigation, and most particularly after NSPA mounted the 5 challenge to the original settlement agreement, NSPA risked receiving no fees.
6 Moreover, NSPA invested significant funds in the case, including, for example, hiring 7 experts to support the class certification motion, and hiring financial experts to review 8 and analyze Defendants’ financial statements and financing agreement, and provide an 9 expert declaration to the Court on the core inability to pay issue.³⁰

10 B. NSPA’s Fee Request is Reasonable Under the Lodestar Cross-Check

11 NSPA’s $3,600,000.00 fee request is reasonable when cross-checked using the 12 lodestar method. Under the lodestar method, a presumptively reasonable fee award 13 can be determined by multiplying the number of hours reasonably expended by 14 plaintiffs’ counsel by their reasonable hourly rate.³¹

15 1. The number of hours that NSPA devoted to this litigation is 16 reasonable.

17 Under the lodestar method, courts first look at the number of hours spent by 18 counsel on the case.³² Here, in support of the lodestar determination, NSPA submit 19 the declarations of Terrence A. Beard and Thomas E. Loeser attesting to their total 20 hours, hourly rates, experience, and efforts to prosecute this action.

21 As set forth in the supporting declarations, NSPA have collectively spent more 22 than 3,281.55 hours of attorney and litigation support time attributable to this action, 23 representing a lodestar of $1,968,722.40.³³ NSPA’s time and expenses are shown in 24 the table below:

25 ³⁰ See Beard Decl., ¶ 49, Ex. B.

26 ³¹ See Hensley, 461 U.S. at 433.

27 ³² Id.

28 ³³ Beard Decl., ¶ 49, Ex. A; Declaration of Thomas E. Loeser In Support of Non-Settling Plaintiffs’ Motion For Attorney’s Fees and Expenses (“Loeser Decl.”), ¶ 9.

	Hours	Lodestar	Expenses
LAW OFFICES OF TERRENCE A. BEARD	2,933.45	1,760,070.00	74,189.52
HAGENS BERMAN	348.10	208,652.40	18,269.38
TOTAL	3,281.55	$1,968,722.40	$92,458.90

The number of hours that NSPA have devoted to pursuing this litigation is appropriate and reasonable, given: (1) the extensive pre-filing investigation described above; (2) the extensive discovery efforts in this action, including extensive negotiations regarding protective orders; numerous meet and confer sessions with opposing counsel, both in person and telephonically; contested hearings before the Magistrate Judge over document production, including expert reports; (3) the review, organization and analysis of over 200,000 pages of documents and ESI; (4) the taking of defense witness depositions; (5) the defense of plaintiff and expert depositions; (6) the consultation with experts, including the preparation of detailed declarations in support of the class certification motion; (7) the analysis of Defendants’ electronic databases, including their Incident Log, Incident Files and warranty/return databases; (8) the efforts to certify the N6/N8/1200 Class; (9) the extensive settlement negotiations with Defendants; (10) the repeated challenges to preliminary approval of the original settlement; (11) the extensive litigation to obtain meaningful confirmatory discovery on Defendants’ inability to pay claims, including contested document discovery and deposition of SPA’s financial expert; (12) consultation with financial experts, including the preparation of detailed declarations for submission to the Court on the issue of Defendants’ inability to pay; (13) regular contact and communication with Plaintiffs and Class members; and (14) the time spent communicating and assisting Class members in the consideration the Settlement.

In sum, the hours that NSPA devoted to this action were extensive, but reasonable and necessary, particularly given the complexity of the issues and parties

1 involved in this case, the necessity of obtaining and analyzing the extensive 2 information regarding Defendants’ defective product and business practices that led 3 directly to the original settlement, and the extraordinary efforts to challenge not only 4 the defects in the original settlement, but the premise upon which the settlement was 5 based. Flawed as it is, the settlement that is before the Court would not exist but for 6 NSPA’s relentless pursuit of relief for the Class.

7 2. NSPA’s hourly rates are reasonable.

8 As detailed in the declarations of Terrence A. Beard and Thomas E. Loeser, the 9 NSPA’s rates are also fair and reasonable. Under the lodestar method, counsel’s 10 reasonable hourly rates are determined by the prevailing market rates that a lawyer of 11 comparable skill, experience, and reputation could command in the relevant 12 community.³⁴ “Affidavits of the plaintiffs’ attorney and other attorneys regarding 13 prevailing fees in the community, and rate determinations in other cases, particularly 14 those setting a rate for the plaintiffs’ attorney, are satisfactory evidence of the 15 prevailing market rate.”³⁵

16 Counsel’s hourly rates in this action range from $500 to $900. Hourly rates for 17 paralegals are $200 or lower.³⁶ Beard is an attorney with 35 years of experience 18 representing a wide range of clients against corporate and governmental defendants, 19 and has extensive litigation experience, including handling large, complex multi-party 20 cases.³⁷ HB is a well-respected national consumer protection plaintiffs’ firm with 21 extensive experience in prosecuting complex litigation, including consumer class 22 actions.³⁸ The Principal attorney at HB for this case, Thomas E. Loeser, is an attorney

1 licensed in California, DC, and Washington State, with 17 years of litigation 2 experience, including nearly five years as a federal prosecutor in Los Angeles.
3 NSPA's hourly rates are appropriate for litigation of this complexity and are 4 comparable to those approved in courts in this District and the Ninth Circuit
5 generally.³⁹ Indeed, the Northern District of California recently approved HB's rates 6 in complex class action litigation involving the use of NCAA student-athletes 7 likenesses in videogames.⁴⁰

8 3. NSPA's fee request is reasonable considering the results obtained, 9 time and labor required, complexity of the litigation, the risks 10 involved, and counsel's skill and experience.

11 Multiplying the hours spent by the NSPA on the litigation by their respective 12 hourly rates yields a lodestar of $1,968,722.40. "Though the lodestar figure is 13 presumptively reasonable, the court may adjust it upward or downward by an 14 appropriate positive or negative multiplier reflecting a host of reasonableness factors, 15 including the quality of representation, the benefit obtained for the class, the 16 complexity and novelty of the issues presented, and the risk of nonpayment."⁴¹ The 17 fee award of $3,600,000.00 requested by NSPA represents a multiplier of 1.8, on the 18 low end of the range of multipliers accepted by courts in this District and across the 19 country.⁴² As discussed below, these reasonableness factors weigh heavily in favor of 20 granting the total requested fee award.

1 First, the Class benefitted from NSPA’s work in this case. “Foremost among 2 these considerations ... is the benefit obtained for the class.”⁴³ There would have been 3 no case in the first place without NSPA initiating and developing it. There would 4 have been no $33 million settlement offer without the extensive efforts of NSPA to 5 put together an overwhelming case of liability on the merits, supported by a detailed 6 evidentiary showing that included documents, deposition testimony, and expert 7 declarations. And the Class would not have the benefit of the additional $3 million in 8 the Settlement Fund, revised apportionment scheme, or improved warnings without 9 NSPA’s unceasing efforts to run the Defendants to ground on their inability to pay 10 claims, and challenge – rather than accept – the settlement terms originally negotiated 11 by SPA with the Defendants, and stubbornly defended by SPA.

12 Second, NSPA have expended a significant amount of time and resources on the 13 litigation. To date, counsel have expended more than 3,281.55 hours, for a lodestar of 14 $1,968,722.40, and have incurred $92,458.90 in expenses in prosecuting this litigation 15 for the benefit of the Class.⁴⁴ NSPA vigorously litigated this action and were 16 challenged every step of the way – first by Defendants prior to the original settlement, 17 and then by the united efforts of SPA and Defendants, whose motivations were 18 dubious. NSPA committed a significant amount of time and expense on a contingency 19 basis with absolutely no guarantee of being compensated in the end. This was 20 particularly the case with regard to the work and money invested after SPA and 21 Defendants agreed to a settlement the Court twice rejected as not worthy of 22 preliminary approval.

1 Third, the litigation was novel in the sense that it was the first time Defendants 2 had ever been sued on a class-wide basis, notwithstanding thousands of prior 3 individual fire cases and claims arising from their defective refrigerators. Effective 4 prosecution of the case required the extensive knowledge, experience and expertise 5 NSPA brought to bear on the complex legal, factual and technical issues in this 6 litigation, as described above.

3 The reputation, experience, and skill of NSPA were essential to the achievement 4 of the current settlement before the Court. Long before the complaint was filed in this 5 case, NSPA Beard used his experience, expertise and skill to develop the factual basis 6 for the class claims. His efforts continued throughout the litigation. Joined by HB, 7 NSPA pushed for the best possible recovery for the Class, given the particular factual
8 and legal complexities of this litigation. At no time have Defendants ever conceded 9 liability, the appropriateness of certification other than for settlement purposes, or the 10 existence of damages. Given the significant risks and uncertainty associated with this 11 complex class action – particularly the post-settlement litigation over Defendants’ 12 inability to pay claims – it is a testament to NSPA’s skill, creativity, and determination 13 that the Settlement Agreement before the Court is an improvement in every material 14 respect over the original.

15 C. NSPA’s Expenses Are Reasonable and Were Necessarily Incurred

16 In addition to attorneys’ fees, NSPA seek an award of $92,458.90 for expenses
17 necessarily incurred in connection with the prosecution of this action. The Ninth 18 Circuit allows recovery of pre-settlement litigation costs in the context of class action 19 settlements.⁵² All expenses that are typically billed by attorneys to paying clients in 20 the marketplace are compensable.⁵³ With this Motion, NSPA provide an accounting 21 of the $92,458.90 in expenses incurred by the NSPA.⁵⁴ Expenses include expert fees

5 expenses were necessarily and reasonably incurred in the prosecution of this action, 6 and they reflect market rates for the various categories of expenses incurred. None of 7 the expenses were incurred for litigation other than the present case.⁵⁵

8 D. NSP Request Incentive Awards

9 By separate motion concurrently filed, Non-Settling Plaintiffs request that the 10 Court approve incentive awards to compensate NSP for their actual time spent 11 prosecuting this case on behalf of the Class.

12 V. CONCLUSION

13 For the foregoing reasons, Non-Settling Plaintiffs request the Court make the 14 following rulings:

- 15 1. Award attorney's fees of $7.2 million, representing 20% of the $36
16 million Settlement Fund;
- 17 2. Allocate the attorney fee award equally ($3.6 million each) between 18 Settling Plaintiffs' Attorneys and Non-Settling Plaintiffs' Attorneys; and
- 19 3. Award Non-Settling Plaintiffs' attorneys reimbursement of costs and 20 expenses reasonably and necessarily incurred of $92,458.90.
